

TWO ISSUES COME TO SAC TONIGHT

Re-Organization Plan to be Given Will You Accept It?

Plans for a somewhat revamped student government will be discussed by Student Affairs Council tonight as the group meets at 7 in Library 114.

A special committee chaired by ASB President-elect Vic Dollente has been working most of the year on the re-organization plans.

In essence, the plans would:

- Provide SAC representation by population for the divisional councils.
- Create a "Board of Hearing" chaired by the ASB vice-president, which would coordinate actions of the Constitution and Codes, Donation Drives and Election committees.
- Re-name the Finance Committee Chairmanship position to "ASB Treasurer," and make this an elective student body office, thus allowing for four ASB officers.

- Give the four classes representation through the Chairman of the Inter-class Council.
- Give on-campus students direct SAC representation through a representative of the Residence Hall Council.
- Open two "Representative-at-Large" positions on SAC for further student representation.

The new re-organization plans would require amending of the Associated Student Body Constitution, which would require the approval of the student body in a special ASB election.

Expected to meet with considerable opposition are the proposals for the representation of the four divisions by population, the recommendation that all four classes be represented by a single person—the chairman of the Inter-Class Council, and the proposed representation for students who live on campus.

Other Recommendations

Although they would not be included in the revised SAC, the re-organization committee also recommended the establishment of a foreign student council, an off-campus living groups council, SAC representation on the Executive Council, and a committee for continuation of study of the two- and three-branch governmental systems for future years.

Students interested in the re-organization plans are urged to come to SAC tonight and voice their views.

A complete listing of the committee's recommendations may be found in last week's SAC minutes, available to everyone at the ASB Office.

300 Voices In Big 'Spring Sing' Friday

A special Spring date is in the offing for Friday when Spring Sing will offer the musical voices of 300 students in 16 groups in the Men's Gym at 8:15 p.m.

"Cal Poly's Voice in Song" is the theme of this year's event which is sponsored by the College Union Spring Sing Committee. Chairman is George N. Spain.

Last year the winner was Wesley Fellowship. The "Musti Award" will be presented this year to the winner from clubs, residence halls and other campus organizations. Even the Bridge Club will lay down its trumpets and join the musical competition. Rally Club, noted quality and both men's and women's residence halls will send "teams" to compete.

Tickets are on sale in the Student Body office for 25 cents.

Biological Science Instructors Attend Symposium on Evolution

Five Cal Poly Biological Science instructors attended a symposium on "Four Billion Years of Evolution" last Saturday. It was sponsored by the Biology Club of San Fernando Valley State College in Northridge.

Instructors who attended were Dr. William Thurmond, head of the department, Dr. Fred Clogston, Dr. Richard Nelson, Dr. Aryan Reast, and Dr. Robert Rodin.

AG Council Slates Camp Talk Tonight

"Government Policy and Agriculture" will be discussed by William B. Camp of Bakersfield, one of the nation's leading agriculturalists, when he speaks in Cal Poly's Little Theater at 8 p.m. today. The address is the last of a series being sponsored by the college's Agricultural Council.

He is credited with introducing cotton as a crop in California while working for the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Cal Poly President Dr. Julian McPhee will introduce Camp. The guest speaker will be honored at a dinner meeting of the California Agricultural Teachers Association region-at-large in the Staff Dining room on campus prior to his address.

Jim Danek Slated As I. E. Speaker

"Industry Management on both sides of the Iron Curtain" will be discussed by the guest speaker at Cal Poly's Industrial Engineering Club banquet at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow. The speaker, James Danek, is manager of technical services at Aero-Jet General Corp. of Sacramento.

The Motel Inn banquet will also feature installation of next year's I.E. Club officers. They are: Chuck Williams, president; Jon Monett, technical vice president; Jim Holmes, social vice president; Larry Myhre, secretary; Gerard DeJong, treasurer; Pete Riesberg, social chairman; Bill Tsai, alumni secretary; Tom Napier, publicity director; Joe Morgan, membership chairman, and Leonard Lucido, historian.

'Snap' Courses Face Scrutiny By State Board of Trustees

The subject of "snap" courses in California's 17 State Colleges will be studied by the State College Board of Trustees and reported on at the board's next meeting June 7-8 at Los Angeles State It has been reported.

Cal Poly's curriculum evaluation and development director, David Cook says, "No word has reached the college from the Board of Trustees regarding this issue."

The Trustees used San Fernando State's home economics courses like "experimental clothing" and "equipment" as examples of possible "proliferation" and "over specialization" of college level courses.

Louis Hellborn, State Board of Trustees President, said last week,

Count Basie Spring Prom Band Choice

Count Basie and his famous 10-piece band will be the featured highlight of the Spring Prom, May 30 in the Men's Gym from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Tickets are on sale at the ASB Office for $1 with ASB cards, and for $2 without. They will also be sold at the door.

The Count's band has appeared at Carnegie Hall, the Newport Jazz Festival, and President Kennedy's Inaugural Ball. He has also appeared in concert halls in Europe.

Audiences from Spain to Scandinavia acclaimed the band as "the greatest thing that has hit European shores." In many cities Basie played to a complete sellout.

In Berlin the band played at the Sport Palace, the same theater where Hitler delivered many of his infamous speeches, on the identical platform.

In 1958, Basie's band was invited to be the first American orchestra to appear at the Royal Command Performance for Queen Elizabeth at the Palladium Theater in London.

A partial listing of the 62 who voted Basie's band the "Greatest Ever" is a hint to the measure of esteem in which Count Basie is held by his fellow musicians. The list includes Louis Armstrong, Woody Herman, Tommy and Jimmy Dorsey, Nat King Cole, Erroll Garner, and Andre Previn.

In addition to winning American polls such as the Down Beat Readers' Poll in 1958, Basie's band won the International Critics' Poll in Down Beat in 1958, and the Reader's Poll of the French monthly, "Le Jazz Hot."

Dick Nixon in San Luis Obispo, Will Not Visit Poly Campus

Richard M. Nixon, candidate for governor of California, will be in San Luis Obispo Thursday, May 31.

Pat Halladay, chairman of the Nixon campaign on campus, reports that Nixon will arrive at the San Luis airport at 1:30 p.m. and go to the courthouse via car caravan where he will deliver a short address from the steps.

Because Nixon's schedule permits only an hour and a half stop in town he will be unable to visit the Cal Poly campus.

William J. Miller Will Speak to IRE

William J. Miller, president of the Western Electronic Manufacturers' Association, will speak at the 10th annual Institute of Radio Engineers (IRE) banquet, Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. in the Staff Dining room.

Topic of Miller's speech will be "Personal Pioneering."

A graduate of the University of Pennsylvania and a former football player, Miller has an extensive background in electronic production sales and management. He has held a variety of executive positions with leading industrial firms across the nation. Miller is currently considered a "spokesman" for the Western Electronics Manufacturers' Association.

In addition to his present responsibility as president of the Western Electronics Manufacturers' Association, Miller is president of the Burton Manufacturing Company in Northridge, Calif.

Fair Judging Meet Here This Week

The annual Professional Livestock Judging Conference now being held on campus has drawn judges from all over California.

Discussion subjects include consumer demands and meat-type animals, according to Lyman L. Benion, head of Cal Poly's Animal Husbandry Department and coordinator for the conference.

The dual grading system was explained by one of several speakers, W. R. Tyler, chief of standardization for livestock in the U.S. Department of Agriculture's agricultural marketing service in Washington, D.C.

Several groups of on-the-hoof judging in the judging pavilion opened the conference yesterday morning, emphasizing evaluation of beef, lamb and pork carcasses. Those attending will evaluate carcasses of the same animals in Cal Poly's meat labs.

Co-sponsors of the conference are the Western Fairs Association, California Division of Fairs and Expositions, and the three institutions that host it on a rotating basis—Cal Poly, University of California at Davis and Fresno State College.

Winner of the award as outstanding junior student in architectural engineering is Art Kishiyama of Baywood Park. He was presented an autographed book at the annual banquet held at the Madonna Inn during Poly Royal.

Advisory Group Will Explain 'Chute Club's 'No'

Members of the College Advisory Commission will come before Student Affairs Council tonight and explain its recent decision to refuse recommending to the administration that the Cal Poly Parachute Club, Inc. be approved as an official campus organization. The meeting will be in Library 114 at 7 p.m.

Last week ASB President Lee Foreman told SAC that, "It was the general feeling (at a meeting of the commission May 8) that the refusal of the by-laws for the Cal Poly Parachute Club, Inc. apparently was made on value judgments of the Dean of Students, with unanimous support by the Executive Council."

According to Dean of Students Everett Chandler, approval of the club was not granted because:

"No instructor has ever come forward to state that this activity is educational in any way.

"If the college were to recognize this group, it would mean that the college would encourage this activity.

"If Cal Poly were to be the first college in California to recognize parachuting after the unfortunate air crash in 1960, Cal Poly would be severely criticized.

"Cal Poly cannot approve this activity because the male has shifted since October 29, 1960. This isn't the same college as it was before that date."

After hearing this report last week, many SAC members felt that the Cal Poly Parachute Club, Inc. is attempting to crash an administrative "stone wall" in seeking official recognition and approval.

Jack Keyes, College Union Program Board chairman, said, "Darcy Staggs (president of the parachute club) is up against a stone wall. It would seem that Commission members went into last week's meeting with a closed mind."

The Advisory Commission, which is composed of administrative, faculty and student personnel and is supposed to act as an arbitrating board, includes Dr. Dale Andrews, dean of the College; J. C. Gibson, assistant dean of agriculture; Dan Lawson, associate dean; activities; Lee Foreman, Associated Student Body president; Bob Murphy, Arts and Science Council chairman; Glen Douglas, Engineering Council chairman; and Arnold Settelmeyer, Agricultural Council chairman.

Joe Zallen, Sophomore representative, said last week, "It seems that there is one man who is stopping recognition of the Parachute Club."

He also said that SAC should organize a committee to present the Parachute Club's petition for recognition again to the administration. Heretofore, the club has been represented only by its president, Darcy Staggs. Zallen did not feel that this is a problem the Advisory Commission should attempt to solve.

When contacted late last week regarding the "stone wall" remarks made by a few members of SAC, Dean of the College, Dale Andrews, said that he did not feel that "any thinking person on the Advisory Commission came to the meeting with a closed mind, then problem."

"If one says that persons considering the matter came to the meeting with a close mind, then he is also saying that they are actually unreasonable," Andrews concluded.

BATHTUB RACES

The annual bathtub races sponsored by the off-campus Inter Fraternity Council and Avila Beach merchants took place at 10 a.m. Saturday at Avila Beach. The tubs are mounted on wheels and powered by gravity.

Cheerleaders, Song Girls Flight It Out Wednesday

Rally Committee will hold cheerleader and song girl elections at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday, May 16 in the football stadium.

Spectators are welcome and those trying out are urged to be at the stadium no later than 6:15 p.m.

FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK

At Last, Revision

At long last Cal Poly students may get a few changes made in their student government. Tonight, Student Affairs Council will discuss an SAC re-organization plan submitted by a committee headed by next year's ASB President, Vic Dullente.

The plan is, on the whole, a good one. It will make things run a little more smoothly and it should, if implemented, make for a much more flexible government.

There are some parts of the re-organization plan with which we do not agree, however.

For instance, the committee has proposed that on-campus residents be given SAC representatives by allowing a member of the Residence Hall Council a seat on SAC. This is not right. As far as student government is concerned (or at least should be concerned), students living on campus are no more special than those who live off.

If on-campus students are given representation, then why isn't that same privilege given to off-campus students? In fact, why should any student be given representation just because he happens to live in a certain spot? There is no need for it, really. This is just like saying that students who eat in the Cafeteria and those who eat in the Snack Bar are two different groups and should be considered as such by student government.

We also suggest that Poly Royal Board's representation on SAC be discontinued. There is no real need for this and it seems a little inequitable to have Poly Royal represented and not Homecoming, an event which should have equal stature. Certainly Poly Royal is a bigger event, but does it really need representation? From what we have seen this year, it could get along without it.

Tonight's discussion should be interesting. —J. Mc.

Flying Club Seeks

More Memberships

Mustang Flying Association is currently conducting a campaign to recruit new members. The club offers students an opportunity to receive low cost training and experience in flying.

Membership is $50, with a special rate of $35 offered to the first three girls who join. This buys proprietary interest in the club's two planes.

Flying time costs $5.50 per hour, solo. A minimum of two hours per month must be flown by each member to maintain his flying proficiency.

Anyone interested in joining the club may contact the membership chairman through Box 80 in the ASB office or may contact any of the officers or members personally.

Key Positions Filled
For Welcome Week

Key appointments for next fall's campus Welcome Week have been announced by General Chairman Art Vos. First Vice Chairman will be Mac Dyer.

Other positions are: Barry Isenberg, Poly Follies; Alice Yount, Registration; John Lang, Dance Chairman; Carla Schmidt, Mixers; Judy Silva, Invitation to Thought; Pete Smith, Beach Party; Nancy Boutonnet, Luncheon Chairman; Jim Quick, Tours; Penny Setterberg, Movies; and Jan Comstock, Convocations.

VIEWPOINT

'Hoof in Mouth'

EDITOR:

The Greeks had better get with it on mythology! "Pegasito," is apparently the name of Pegasus now, which sounds like an Iberian got in the way. Ask Dr. Yeaton if the Spanish influence is by way of Mexico and, if so, does it mean "Little Pegasus," and if it does, will we be given only half a journey to Mount Olympus?

What is this animal husbandry thing anyhow? Pegasus on the one hand, a white horse flying with Socony Mobil Oil wings and El Mustang the "maverick" stallion, on the other hand. It's a little confusing. Are horses the symbol of crusading journalism or any part thereof?

The only animal husbandry indication in this business so far is a strong case of hoof and mouth disease. Either fly or get off the saddle!

R. C. Teurtani

EDITOR'S NOTE: Don't you really mean, "hoof IN mouth disease"?

'Success' Doubted

EDITOR:

In your May 8 issue of 'El Mustang' you ran a story on the success of Poly Royal. I have always thought that Poly Royal was to show the general public what Cal Poly offered in education. However, it seems that the administration is more concerned with the amount of money that was taken in.

President McPhee termed the annual event a success, or so it seemed in your paper, because the total amount of money gleaned from the public at this past Poly Royal has all appearances of being the biggest amount to date.

If this is the main reason for having a Poly Royal, we should go all-out and organize the motel owners, restaurant managers, filling station operators, and anyone else that the public might be in contact with, raise their prices 30 per cent and give us the extra amount. If they refuse we could stop Poly Royal and the students could boycott that particular business until they get back in step. We might even charge the visitors a few dollars for a parking sticker over the two days of the next Poly Royal.

about Jewelry

By

FIELDS

FALLACY:
Simulated and cultured pearls are much the same.

FACT:
Simulated pearls are man made, usually being a glass bead coated with a pearl solution. Cultured pearls are produced by inserting a mother-of-pearl bead in the actual pearl oyster, which then builds up the cultured pearl just as it does a natural pearl. The popular cultured pearls are obviously more valuable than man-made simulated pearls.

Mustang Baseball Team Ties for CCAA Cellar

The Mustang baseball squad closed out its 1962 season by grabbing two victories in a three game set from host San Fernando Valley State over the weekend.

By virtue of their two wins the Poly Horsehiders were able to pull up a tie with the S.F.V. Matadors for last place in the CCAA standings. Both squads finished with five wins and 13 loss mark.

In Friday's series opener Dick Guerra pitched a 4-1 victory for Poly, helping his winning cause by collecting two runs batted in during the afternoon.

In the Saturday doubleheader, Poly dropped the first 4-0, then came back to take the nightcap by an 8-4 decision. In the opener the Mustangs were limited to a mere two hits, by Matador Mat Beletic as starter Ted Tolner absorbed the loss.

Pitcher Don Hopkins got credit for the win.

Fresno State captured the CCAA championship, having clinched the crown a week earlier.

Architects Represented At Texas AIA Convention

Architecture Engineering majors Bill Podesto and Robin Kipp attended a convention of Associated Student Chapters of the American Institute of Architecture, held May 7 to 11, in Dallas, Texas.

Podesto, a junior from Modesto and regional director of ASC-AIA, said he and Kipp represented Poly at the convention to become acquainted with architects practicing in the field, and exchange ideas with other students from throughout the country. Their trip is being financed by donations from local AIA practicing architects and the Cal Poly ASC-AIA treasury.

In 1961-62 winter quarter 84 students at Poly had a 4.0 grade point average.

Graduation Is Near; June 16 'Target Date'

Graduating seniors are urged to participate in the annual Commencement exercises to be held at Mustang Stadium, Saturday, June 16, at 1:30 p.m.

Candidates for degrees who will not be able to attend the exercises should notify the Records Office as soon as possible.

Diplomas for those who cannot attend the ceremonies will be mailed as soon as possible after the exercises, the administration reports.

H. Woodworth Wins Trophy For Best Theme in Flower Show

"Design for Living" was the theme chosen for the Ornamental Horticulture Department flower show during Poly Royal.

Judges for student entries were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Enomoto from Redwood City, and Russ Gregory of Berkeley.

First place in the Garden Exhibits class went to Harold Woodworth, second place, Carol Markel; third place, Walter Morimoto. Trophy for Best Theme was presented to Harold Woodworth.

Poly Sports Car Club Schedules Gymkhana

The Cal Poly Sports Car club will hold a Gymkhana on May 20 at 1 p.m. at campus parking lot "A," located at the Crandall Way entrance.

The club is planning varied and interesting problems, and each contestant will be given two timed runs. Two plaques will be awarded to first place over-all winner. Entry fee is $1.00 for members and $1.50 for non-members.

Cal Poly's largest department is Electronics with 461 students. The smallest is English with only four majors.

Resident Manager Positions Available, Announces Bostrom

Applications for positions of resident managers and assistants are now available in the Housing Office, according to Robert Bostrom, Residence Hall Supervisor-Counselor. Applications must be filed by May 17.

Applicants must be juniors or seniors with at least a 2.3 GPA. They must also have time available for the job, which will include such duties as reporting maintenance matters to the Head Resident, attending residence hall and staff meetings and all hall functions, assisting Head Resident to develop high morale in the group, and co-operating with the orientation program in teaching college songs, traditions and student government to residents.

Resident managers and assistants are directly responsible to the Head Resident and are assigned specific hours to work at the desk as well as having to be on duty during all periods of check in or check out. Resident Managers may not accept any other employment, nor be a candidate for any contest (for Queen or Ugly Man for instance.) The job will run from Sept. 11, 1962 until June 16, 1963.

Speech, Awards Highlight Banquet

"Success for Animal Husbandry Majors," an address by Carl F. Twisselman, and presentation of awards highlighted the second annual Animal Husbandry Department banquet last weekend in the Staff Dining Hall.

Twisselman, vice president of the California Cattlemen's Association and director of the National Cattlemen's association, stressed the importance of economics in agriculture.

"The success of Animal Husbandry majors depends a great deal on sound economic practices both in practice and in theory," he said. "One must know why he is doing something in order to know what he is doing." He also emphasized the link between good accounting, money handling and success.

Among the awards given was a silver tray presented to Richard F. Johnson, judging team coach, by the 1961-62 judging team as a show of their appreciation.

Judging team members were presented with silver belt buckles.

Winners in the 18th annual all-college judging contest held Saturday were presented framed certificates. Top all-round judge was Tom Norton. Don Dow placed top in sheep judging, Tom Norton top in horse judging and Clayton Oilar top in swine judging.

Each year the Boots and Spurs club presents an honorary membership to someone who has given much of his time to helping young people and their organizations. This year Paul Grafe of the Ferndale Ranch in Santa Paula was chosen for this award.

Grafe sponsors a Future Farmer judging conference in Ventura and donates money for the Bennion scholarship presented annually to an Animal Husbandry junior.

All Class Field Day Slated for May 30

The first annual All-Class Field Day, sponsored by the Inter-class Council, will begin at 10 a.m. May 30.

Four class teams will be organized behind the Men's Gymnasium to participate in events such as basketball, softball, volleyball, daisy races, wheelbarrow races, and relays. Play-offs will start at 2:00 p.m. and trophies will be awarded to the winning class.

Sign-up sheets will be located in the ASB office, the Post Office, and the new dormitories. Anyone is eligible for the field day event, but each individual should sign up for only one game.

'Co-educational' Housing For Summer Residents Here

For the first time on this campus, "co-educational" housing will be used during the summer sessions.

According to Robert M. Bostrom, housing supervisor, Trinity dorm will be open this summer to both men and women students enrolled in the summer sessions. Actually, Bostrom says they will not be living any closer than the women now living in the south end of Trinity and the men living in the north wing of Muir hall.

This situation is better for the students and good for the school, Bostrom explains. This way only one dorm will be kept open for 160 people, where last year four dorms were open. By having a co-ed dormitory, the cost is cut appreciably for the college.

The innovation will require that women forfeit privileges of using the living area except during visiting hours. Closing hours will also be modified for the women because of the small number.

The women will be housed in the same wing of the dorm as the head resident. The idea of co-ed housing has not been considered for a regular school year, added Bostrom, because one sex would have to forfeit privileges of the living areas.
